April is World Landscape Architecture Month.

The International Federation of Landscape Architects (IFLA) designated World Landscape Architecture Month in 2006.

The 2009 theme is:
Celebrate Landscape Architecture

An architectural rendering of a public realm. In the foreground, several stylized white line-art figures of people are walking along a paved path. In the background, there is a modern building with a glass facade and a large, curved, white canopy structure. The scene is set in a bright, sunny environment with some greenery and parked cars visible in the distance.

World Landscape Architecture
Month recognizes that Landscape Architecture is an international profession that helps to shape our built and natural environments.

World Landscape Architecture
Month helps bring international recognition
to the profession, and to works, of landscape architecture;

World Landscape Architecture
Month
introduces the public to landscape architecture.

World Landscape Architecture
Month encourages people to consider a career in landscape architecture.

April was selected as two events related to Landscape Architecture are already celebrated in this month:

- April 22nd - Earth Day; and
- April 27th – the birth of Frederick Law Olmsted, founder of Landscape Architecture in North America.
